

&

ELOPEMENT GUEST GUIDE

A guide to celebrating with intention in the Smoky Mountains

Welcome!

If you've been invited to an elopement—first of all, congratulations! That means you're part of a very small circle of people chosen to witness something incredibly personal and meaningful.

Elopements are not your average wedding day—they're intimate, intentional, and often filled with adventure. This guide will help you know what to expect and how to show up fully ready to celebrate.

What Makes an Elopement Different?

- Fewer People, More Meaning: Small guest list, big heart.
- Nature as the Backdrop: No ballrooms here—think mountains, overlooks, or cozy cabins.
- Freedom Over Formality: Less structure, more presence.
- Minimal Infrastructure: No seating charts, or a chair set aisle—just intentional love.

Behind the Scenes: What Might Be Included in an Elopement Day Package

- ✓ Photography + Planning (hi, that's me!)
- ✓ Vendor coordination (officiants, florals, permits, etc.)
- ✓ A personalized timeline made just for them
- ✓ Ceremony location scouting and logistics
- ✓ Optional extras: cake, champagne, charcuterie snacks, video, and more

How to Be a Great Elopement Guest

- Arrive On Time: Small guest lists = big impact if you're late.
- Dress for the Outdoors: Layers and comfortable shoes.
- Pack Light: Bring only what you need—no bulky bags or distractions.
- Respect the Format: There may not be a reception or big production. Just joy.
- Leave No Trace: Stay on trails, pack out trash, respect the land.

Bonus Tip:

❤️ Bring water and snacks for yourself—bonus points if you bring extras for the couple. Extra, extra points if you offer something to the media team. (Hi again! 🙌)

🎉 What to Expect During the Ceremony

Elopement ceremonies are beautifully simple—and sometimes a little unconventional.

There likely won't be a set aisle or rows of chairs. Instead, the couple may invite you to gather around and create a natural aisle as they enter.

The ceremony might be on a mountain overlook, a roadside pull-off, or a forest trail. Space could be tight. There might be wind, birdsong, or even the sound of passing cars—and that's all part of the charm.

“How to Be Present” tips

💙 Stand close! Cozy up to your people—this is meant to feel intimate.

📸 Be aware of the media team. We'll be moving around to capture every angle—just keep enjoying the moment!

🔊 Make some noise! When they kiss, cheer, clap, shout! There may only be 10 of you—make it feel like 50.

👤 Embrace the quirks. Nature might not be quiet or perfect—and that's okay. It's real, raw, and beautiful.

🎉 Remember: There are no rules—just love

What the Day Might Look Like

Timeline:

- 🕒 4:00 PM – Guests arrive
- 🕒 4:30 PM – First look + private vows
- 🕒 5:00 PM – Ceremony
- 🕒 5:30 PM – Group photos
- 🕒 6:00 PM – Couple adventure photos
- 🕒 7:00 PM – Wrap up

Note Box:

💬 Many couples will ask guests to leave after group photos and meet them back at their Airbnb, cabin, or a local restaurant. Be sure to know the plan ahead of time and have the address saved—cell service can be spotty!

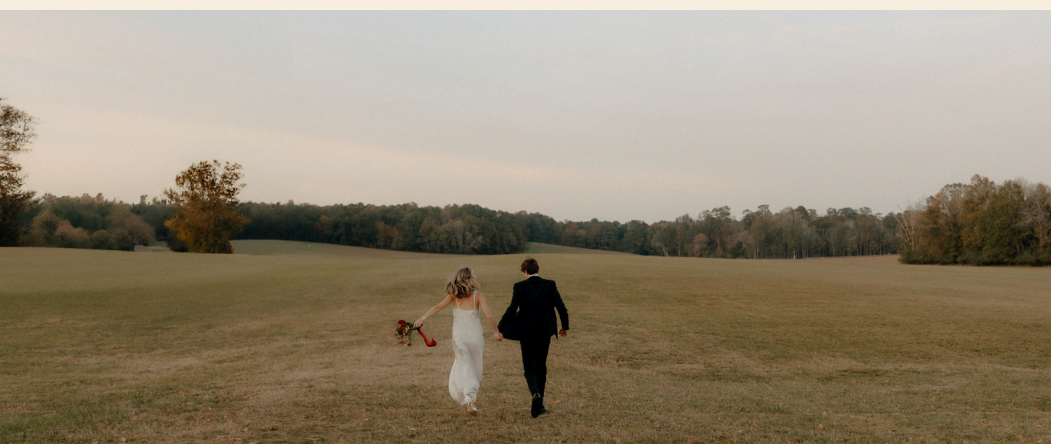

Final Thoughts

Being invited to an elopement is a big deal. You're not just attending—you're part of the story. Your presence, flexibility, and love mean the world to the couple.

Soak it in. Celebrate them. And help make it a day they'll never forget.

👇 full blog post 👇

Want to know about me? more about elopements?
what my team offers?

✨ Browse real elopement stories and planning tips on the blog

✨ Inquire about availability + custom elopement packages

✨ Let's dream up a plan that fits your vision, your vibe,
and your values

☞ SME Package Website, R Photos Instagram

READY TO INQUIRE AND SAVE THE DATE

☞ Book Your Elopement Experience

I can't wait to hear your story. Let's create something unforgettable in these mountains together. 💙

